MAY 1982

HUR900

0001

The image displays a 10x10 grid of 100 small, square panels. Each panel contains a highly detailed, repeating pattern of dark, rectangular, and irregular shapes against a lighter background. These patterns resemble microscopic views of a material, possibly a crystal lattice or a textured surface, or perhaps a digital representation of a complex, fractal-like structure. The patterns within each panel are dense and intricate, with varying degrees of contrast and texture. The overall composition is a complex, grid-like structure that suggests a highly organized, yet complex, system or material.
